Measuring your horse for a rug.

Measure your horse from the middle of the front of his chest all the way around to the middle of the tail at the back. Take the measurement at the height of the point of the shoulder. This will give you the length of the rug that your horse will need.

If you have a heavily built horse or pony it is also useful to measure the depth of your horse from the withers to make sure that the rug will cover all of his belly!
